

The Henry Morris Awards – Guidance Notes

What are the Henry Morris Awards?

Henry Morris was the visionary founder of the village colleges in Cambridgeshire. When he died in 1961, a group of his friends set up the Henry Morris Memorial Trust in order to remember him. The main function of the Trust is to make funding awards for a specific purpose to young people aged 13-19 in Cambridgeshire. You can apply for a funding award to support independently-planned travel, expeditions and special projects. Examples of what the Trust may offer an award for:

- Travel abroad - Your trip might take you overseas – for example, a trip to France to investigate the history of the piano at the Paris Museum of Music
- Travel in Britain - You may want to travel somewhere in Britain – for example, a bird-spotting trip to Land's End
- A special project - You may have a home-based project – for example, you may want to build a RAKU kiln in your back garden.

Who can apply?

You must be a young person age 13 – 19 living in Cambridgeshire. You can apply on your own, with a friend or in a small group.

How much can you apply for?

Awards are usually made between £20 and £300. Successful applications are often those that demonstrate that you have thought about where else you might seek funds to make your project possible.

Criteria

- You cannot apply for funding for projects that have started before you submit your application. Projects must take place between April – September.
- The Trust funds travel and projects which are substantially planned by you. This means whether you plan something by yourself or in a group, there must be no adult involvement in the planning or managing of your project (although an adult may accompany your trip).
- The Trust does not fund:
 - gap years
 - foreign exchanges
 - school course-work
 - simple holidays
 - trips managed and planned by the school or another organisation
- If your project involves a group, you must each complete a separate application form.
- You must be available to attend an interview in Cambridge at the beginning of March.

What is the application process?

November - December	Do your research and plan your project. For more ideas and information please visit the website www.henrymorris.org
January	Complete your application form and submit to the Trust by 31 January.
March	If your application meets the criteria, you will be invited to an interview to present your ideas to the Trust. This will take place in Cambridge in early March. If the Trust decides to offer you an award, you will be notified shortly afterwards.
April – September	Your project should take place within this period. The Trust will send you a cheque for the funding award.
September	You must submit a report on your project to the Trust by 30 September.
