Trekking 100 miles of the Jurassic Coast

Walking the entirety of the Jurassic Coast for Whale And Dolphin Conservation because We want to protect the British coast and its life

Whale And Dolphin Conservation

We campaign, lobby and research globally to keep whales and dolphins safe and free

Charity Registration No. 1014705

Story

After completing the National 3 Peaks challenge in 23 hours last year and raising over £3000 for Macmillan cancer support, Jack Darch, Zak Delaney, Chris Berridge, David Dow and Ben White, along with the new addition of Harry Banham will be walking the entirety of the Jurassic Coast (100 miles) in order to raise funds for Whale and Dolphin Conservation UK.

Climate change is having a devastating effect on the British coast and its marine life, and we want to do something about it
